

OVERVIEW:

The Disaster Preparedness and Healthcare Leadership Fellowship is a one year fellowship for a graduate of emergency medicine residency interested in advancing knowledge and practice, academic focus, administration and oversight of emergency medicine practice and healthcare disaster preparedness. The fellow will incorporate medical oversight, system design, emergency management and health system operations in order to be prepared to lead clinical operations and disaster preparedness/response at a departmental, hospital and system level.

LENGTH: One academic year (July 1st – June 30th)

POSITIONS: 1 fellow per year

CLINICAL:

The fellow will work as a fully credential attending physician with half-time clinical hours of full-time faculty at Mount Sinai Morningside and Mount Sinai West Emergency Departments.

FELLOWSHIP WEBSITES:

<https://icahn.mssm.edu/education/residencies-fellowships/list/disaster-preparedness-healthcare-leadership-fellowship> and
<https://www.healthcarereadiness.org/>

TO APPLY:

Send your CV, Cover Letter and 2-3 Letters of Recommendation to Fellowship Director, Michael Redlener, MD, FAEMS (michael.redlener@mounsinai.org)

HIGHLIGHTS:

- Healthcare disaster preparedness and response operations
- Emergency Department clinical operations
- Regional Disaster Healthcare Preparedness Activities
- Disaster Medicine Research and Policy
- Opportunities for Disaster Response and Event Medicine
- Center for Healthcare Readiness at Mount Sinai, a leading research, implementation and policy center in healthcare preparedness.

